

May 6- Virtual Health Care Services on the Rise in Canada?

As there is a need for social distancing in these uncertain times, virtual care for health services is on the rise in Canada. Remote delivery of physiotherapy may be appropriate for your health needs. To explore this further, talk to your physio about this type of care or find physiotherapists who offer virtual care on our website <https://bcphysio.org/find-a-physio>. Several studies have outlined the successes of virtual care, including this 2017 research into the experience of using Skype to treat knee osteoarthritis patients and this 2019 randomized controlled trial reviewing virtual care in hip replacement rehabilitation.
